

Cookie Policy of sab-europe.com

Last updated: 30 September 2026

Welcome to the cookie policy of sab-europe.com. This policy will help you understand which cookies and tracking technologies we use, how we use them and what your rights are.

Introduction

This document contains information about technologies that enable this Website to achieve the purposes described below. These technologies allow the Controller to collect and store information (for example through Cookies) or use resources (for example by running a script) on the User's device when the User interacts with this Website.

For simplicity, these technologies are collectively referred to as Trackers in this document, unless there is a reason to distinguish between them. For example, although Cookies can be used in both web and mobile browsers, it would be inappropriate to refer to Cookies in the context of mobile applications, since these Trackers require a browser. Accordingly, the term Cookie is used in this document only to refer specifically to that particular type of Tracker.

Some purposes for which Trackers are used may also require the User's consent. Where consent is given, it may be freely withdrawn at any time by following the instructions in this document.

This Website uses Trackers managed directly by the Controller (commonly called first-party Trackers) and Trackers that enable services provided by third parties (commonly called third-party Trackers). Unless otherwise specified in this document, those third parties have access to their respective Trackers.

The duration and expiry of Cookies and similar Trackers may vary according to the settings established by the Controller or each third-party provider. Some expire at the end of the User's browsing session.

In addition to the information provided in the descriptions of the categories below, Users may obtain more detailed and updated information about duration and other relevant matters, such as the presence of other Trackers, in the respective third-party providers' privacy policies (using the links provided) or by contacting the Controller.

Measurement

This Website uses Trackers to measure traffic and analyse User behaviour in order to improve the Service.

The following Trackers are managed by third parties.

Google Analytics 4

Google Analytics is an analytics service provided by Google Ireland Limited (Google). Google uses the Personal Data collected to track and examine the use of this Website, prepare reports and share them with other services developed by Google. Google may use Personal Data to contextualise and personalise advertisements on its advertising network.

In Google Analytics 4, IP addresses are used at the time of collection and then deleted before data is recorded in any data centre or server. Further information is available in Google's official documentation.

To understand Google's use of Data, consult its partner policy and Business Data page.

Personal Data processed: Usage Data; number of Users; session statistics; Trackers.

How to manage preferences and give or withdraw consent on this Website

Where the use of Trackers is based on consent, Users may give or withdraw that consent by setting or updating their preferences through the relevant privacy choices panel available on this Website.

For third-party Trackers, Users may manage their preferences by visiting the relevant opt-out link, where available, using the tools described in the third party's privacy policy or contacting that third party directly.

How to control or delete Cookies and similar technologies through your device settings

Users may use their browser settings to view which Cookies or similar technologies have been set on their device, block Cookies or similar technologies, or delete them from the browser.

However, browser settings do not provide granular control of consent by category.

For example, Users may find information on managing Cookies in some of the most widely used browsers at the following links:

- Google Chrome
- Mozilla Firefox
- Apple Safari
- Microsoft Internet Explorer
- Microsoft Edge
- Brave
- Opera

Users may also manage certain Trackers used by mobile applications by disabling them through the appropriate device settings, such as mobile advertising settings or general tracking settings. Users may consult their device settings to identify the relevant option.

Consequences of refusing the use of Trackers

Users are free to decide whether to allow the use of Trackers. However, Trackers enable this Website to provide a better experience and advanced features, in line with the purposes described in this document. If the User chooses to block Trackers, the Controller may therefore be unable to provide the related features.

Definitions and legal references

Personal Data (or Data)

Any information that directly or indirectly, including in combination with other information such as a personal identification number, makes a natural person identified or identifiable.

Usage Data

Information collected automatically through this Website, including by third-party applications integrated into it. This includes: IP addresses or domain names of computers used by Users connecting to this Website; URI (Uniform Resource Identifier) addresses; the time of the request; the method used to submit the request to the server; the size of the file received in response; the numerical code indicating the status of the server's response (success, error, etc.); the country of origin; the visitor's browser and operating system characteristics; the time-related details of visits (such as time spent on each page); and details of the route followed within the Application, particularly the sequence of pages visited and parameters relating to the User's operating system and IT environment.

User

The individual using this Website who, unless otherwise specified, is also the Data Subject.

Data Subject

The natural person to whom the Personal Data relates.

Data Processor (or Processor)

The natural or legal person, public authority or other body that processes Personal Data on behalf of the Controller, as described in this privacy policy.

Data Controller (or Controller)

The natural or legal person, public authority, agency or other body which, alone or jointly with others, determines the purposes and means of processing Personal Data and the tools adopted, including security measures relating to the operation and use of this Website. Unless otherwise specified, the Controller is the owner of this Website.

This Website (or this Application)

The hardware or software tool through which Users' Personal Data is collected and processed.

Service

The Service provided by this Website as described in the relevant terms, if any, on this website/application.

European Union (or EU)

Unless otherwise specified, references to the European Union in this document include all current Member States of the European Union and the European Economic Area.

Cookie

Cookies are Trackers consisting of small sets of data stored in the User's browser.

Tracker

Any technology, such as Cookies, unique identifiers, web beacons, embedded scripts, e-tags or fingerprinting, that enables Users to be tracked, for example by collecting or storing information on the User's device.
